

International SOS Hotel Security – expanding our hotel security offering in partnership with Safehotels.

Be Safehotels Certified! A certification program through Safehotels for your travellers.

As the world gets back to travel, we are continuing to expand our hotel security offering further to clients in fulfilling their Duty of Care to safeguard their travelling employees.

As part of this International SOS, the world's leading health and security risk management services company recognises a greater need to expand our hotel security offering. Our clients are looking to identify and send travellers to stay not only a recognised hotel, but one that is safe, secure and has received a comprehensive and independently verified certification audit.

To augment our network of hotels, clients can also access Safehotels through International SOS, Safehotels offers a certification program that is completely independent and recognised by the industry of hotel certification for safety, security, and hygiene.

Working in collaboration with Safehotels, we would like to invite your hotel to complement our collective list of hotels which International SOS shares with their extensive delivery for clients, including over half of the Fortune Global 500 companies that generate thousands of room nights each year.
